Billing – The Art of It

By Shomit Sirohi

Capital is not like a common accounting. A man says to a person on the phone. The phone connection keeps billing going. Capital is then he says “Genoese in origin.” In fact then Genoa was the first financial cycle.

Now I mean a financial history reads into this development of finance around the process of a company. It has made financial history. It means it is legal and high legalism involved here. It is in fact a pure capital.

Account like Genoa, also run it.

Mcshull is busy working in history on a type of capital, he meant architecture, and he meant all its elegance and appearances.

All of this is the history of capital. I mean study a billing on this, how do things bill. It is like that, that a capitalist commences his day. Phones, pure conversations on accounts and billing.

Billing – the process of attaching values and quantitities to pure ideas and styles and images. How much is it worth?
